AUBURN RESIDENT HONORED WITH PLACER COUNTY OFFICE OF EDUCATION SUPERINTENDENT’S AWARD

Auburn, CA– Placer County Superintendent of Schools Gayle Garbolino-Mojica is pleased to announce Chris Womack, Auburn resident and Computer Networking Specialist III, as the recipient of the Placer County Office of Education (PCOE) “Superintendent’s Award.”

“Chris has a passion for helping others use technology,” said Superintendent Garbolino-Mojica. “He has a drive to succeed and excellent customer service skills. But most of all, his integrity and endless enthusiasm makes him a stellar member of the PCOE team.”

Each year, the Placer County Office of Education honors its employees for their work performance through Employee of the Year Awards in five categories which include Classified, Certificated, Management, Rookie of the Year and the Superintendent's Award. The recipient of the Superintendent's Award is hand selected by Placer County Superintendent of Schools Gayle Garbolino-Mojica for their work ethic, integrity, excellence and dedication to PCOE.

Under the leadership of the Placer County Superintendent of Schools Gayle Garbolino-Mojica and the County Board of Education, PCOE serves as the link between the California Department of Education and the 16 local school districts in Placer County. PCOE's role includes approval of local school district budgets to ensure sound fiscal operation, reviewing and approving Local Control Accountability Plans (LCAPs), and developing professional development and educational opportunities for educators. In addition to providing services to local school districts, PCOE also operates educational programs that provide services directly to students such as special education programs for students with rare disabilities and alternative education programs for students who have been expelled or probation referred.
